BACKGROUND

Cataclysm Wine Company was born from the understanding that things don't always go to plan. Great upheaval is an opportunity for a new beginning. 20,000 years after the floods that shaped the Columbia Valley, this wine is true to the land and the hands that made it—classically drinkable but surprisingly complex, it is a testament to why Washington State has become one of the most exciting wine-growing regions in the world. Like nature, it balances power with grace and reminds us that our world is in a constant state of reinvention.

TASTING NOTES

Showcasing the beauty of the Pacific Northwest land, this full-bodied Cabernet Sauvignon is bright and juicy with solid structure and concentrated red fruit. Aromas of bramble berries, dark chocolate and cassis mingle with fresh earthy notes. Flavors of currant and raspberry compote explode on the palate mixed with cocoa nib, blackberry compote and resin. This is a robust Cabernet with all the hallmarks of a complex Washington State wine.
