BACKGROUND

Cataclysm Wine Company was born from the understanding that things don't always go to plan. Great upheaval is an opportunity for a new beginning. 20,000 years after the floods that shaped the Columbia Valley, this wine is true to the land and the hands that made it—classically drinkable but surprisingly complex, it is a testament to why Washington State has become one of the most exciting wine-growing regions in the world. Like nature, it balances power with grace and reminds us that our world is in a constant state of reinvention.

TASTING NOTES

This Chardonnay erupts from the glass wafting aromas of fresh cut grass, melon, peach and beeswax. A lively entry filled with fruit flavors of ambrosia apple, pineapple and Kumquat. The texture and weight create a luxurious mouthfeel complimented by notes of white pepper, stone and vanilla bean on the finish. The subtle oak spice is balanced with a bright acidity. A versatile grape treated to show the best of what Washington Chardonnay has to offer.
